The Middlebury Language Schools
1939 Session

History The Middlebury Language Schools were the pioneers in the development of segregated, specialized summer schools for the study of modern languages in this country. The German School was founded in 1915, followed by the French and Spanish Schools in 1916 and 1917 respectively. These schools represented a distinctive contribution to educational progress in America, and quickly won for Middlebury an international reputation. In 1920, the English School was begun on a similar pattern, and has prospered in its mountain setting, twelve miles away, at Bread Loaf. The German School, discontinued in 1918, was reopened in 1931 and located for greater isolation not on the college campus, but in the neighboring village of Bristol. In 1932, the Italian School was added to the two other Romance Language units on the Middlebury Campus.

The Idea The Middlebury Language Schools stand for the thorough preparation of language teachers through efficient methods of teaching, a mastery of the spoken and written language, and an intimate knowledge of the life, institutions, literature, history and culture of the foreign country. Success hinges upon the consistent enforcement of the Middlebury idea—the segregation of students from contact with English; the concentration of the work of each student upon the foreign language; the exclusive use of the language in and out of classroom; and the careful supervision and coordination of courses to meet the different needs of all students. Each school has its separate residences and dining halls and a faculty of native instructors. For the seven weeks of the session, the foreign language is the sole medium of communication in work and play. No elementary courses are offered, and from the day of arrival, students are pledged to speak the foreign language.

Academic Status The work of the Middlebury Language Schools has attracted increasing interest from American educators. Among the students enrolled every summer are to be found college professors and heads of departments, as well as teachers, heads of departments, and principals of secondary schools. The summer of 1938 brought students from forty-three different states and countries, including Colorado,
California, Montana, Louisiana, Texas, Florida. Two hundred seventeen colleges and universities were represented. Eighty-three per cent of the students held baccalaureate degrees, and one hundred thirty-seven students held the Master's Degree or the Doctorate. The majority of the students are candidates for advanced degrees. Fifty-six Master's degrees and one Doctorate in Modern Languages were awarded in August, 1938.

A Good Investment The value of the training is recognized by school boards and institutions employing language teachers to such a degree that not infrequently they defray or contribute toward meeting the expenses of teachers attending the Middlebury Language Schools. As compared with foreign travel, a session at one of the Middlebury schools is more economical, provides courses better suited to the needs of American teachers, and gives an uninterrupted and intensive training which is not found in foreign institutions. Neither in foreign travel nor resident study abroad can the student find courses in professional technique and a concentrated training in the foreign language comparable to those in the Middlebury Language Schools. At the same time, such study furnishes the indispensable preparation for later travel in the foreign land.

Location The Middlebury Language Schools are located in a lovely Vermont countryside, at the foot of the Green Mountains, and about twenty miles from Lake Champlain. The Romance Language Schools occupy the campus of Middlebury College, founded in 1800 and still one of the most charming of New England colleges. The life of the German School centers around the quaint village green of Bristol, twelve miles away and nearer the mountains. The summer climate is delightful, clear dry breezes, cool nights, with sufficient rain to keep the meadows and woods richly green and soft. Among the memories of students who have spent a summer here are pictured many scenes of Vermont mountains and forests, valleys with their winding rivers, the hollows among the hills where the lakes lie, the Adirondacks, pink-tipped in the morning sun, or the purple hills of the eastern range slowly darkening in the twilight.

Atmosphere The central purpose of the Schools is to make everything about the life of a student during his stay contribute as richly and as pleasantly as possible to the thing for which he came, the mastery of the language. Similarity of aim among students coming from widely separated sections of the country fosters good comradeship and an esprit de corps; while constant social intercourse with instructors at the dining tables, in songs and games, on hikes and picnics, no less than in the classroom, brings both inspirational and intellectual stimulus. Any language pursued under such conditions quickly becomes a subjective element in the life of a student. A high ratio of instructors to students is maintained, approximately one to eight.

Recreation No college in the East offers more attractive opportunities for out-of-door recreation than are found at Middlebury in summer. The program of studies is so arranged as to leave late afternoons and Saturdays free. Groups of students frequently spend an afternoon at a lake side or hiking in the mountains. Party lunches are provided at a reasonable charge. Among the most enjoyable features of a summer’s sojourn at Middlebury are the campfire suppers and informal picnics of these friendly groups. Unusual opportunities are afforded by the Battell Forest of 15,000 acres, belonging to Middlebury College. Week-end hiking parties on the celebrated Long Trail of the Green Mountains have been popular. Students wishing to participate are reminded to bring their hiking outfits. Swimming may be enjoyed at Lake Dunmore, or at Bartlett’s Falls in Bristol. The tennis courts on the college campus are reserved for the use of those students and instructors who pay a fee of $3.00 for the entire session. There is an excellent golf course within walking distance of the campus, which students may use at small charge. At Bristol, tennis courts have also been placed at the disposal of the school, and a golf course is within easy reach.

Good automobile roads provide opportunity for trips into rural Vermont, to Lake Champlain, Lake Dunmore, Mount Mansfield, Ticonderoga, Ausable Chasm, the Adirondacks, Lake Placid, Lake George, and the White Mountains, any of which can be visited in a day's trip.

Admission In all the Schools students may enter without examinations and without being candidates for degrees. It should be noted, however, that the Middlebury Language Schools are, by reason of the students attending them and the nature of the courses given, essentially graduate schools requiring the highest degree of application and study.

No student will be admitted unless his qualifications are approved by the Dean, and the right is reserved to place all students in the classes best suited to their advancement. Preference for admission will be given to teachers of the language and graduate students preparing to teach. Undergraduates are required to submit special recommendations from their professors, indicating adequate preparation.

No student will be admitted to the Schools unless he is able and willing to use only the foreign language, during the entire session, even in the individual dormitory rooms. This rule, which has become a cherished and unique tradition of the schools, and which is a fundamental of the Middlebury method, goes into force from the moment the student enrolls. Students may, of course, use English in their dealings with the people of the village, but even in these cases, students are not supposed to speak English to each other. This rule holds good for all picnics and excursions. At the opening of the schools, each student will be required to sign a formal statement, pledging his word of honor to observe this rule of no English. The Dean reserves the right to dismiss from the school students who willfully break this rule. Only the Director or the Dean may grant temporary release, upon occasions which may warrant it.

Cooperation The Middlebury Language Schools maintain the closest cooperation with each other. An enrolled student may audit any courses in his own school, or in any of the other schools, without extra charge. He may also enroll for credit in courses in another school on payment of a nominal fee, if by reason of his proficiency he receives the consent of the Deans of both schools. (See page 11.) By special arrangement, a student enrolled in one school may be permitted to take part or all of his meals in the dining hall of another school. Permission must be secured from the Deans of both schools, and the student should state his wish when reserving accommodations, in no case later than the end of the registration period. It should be noted, however, that because of the distance involved, such arrangements are more difficult between schools on the Middlebury campus and the German School at Bristol.

The special beginners' course in Italian will again be offered. It is not open to members of the Italian School, and so constitutes no violation of the Middlebury requirement that students be able to speak the language of their school. The course is offered at no extra charge to members of the French, Spanish, and German Schools who are interested in acquiring a knowledge of Italian, either for teaching or as a tool for their graduate study. Since it is not always possible for high school teachers to attend a beginning Italian course during the winter, they are urged to take advantage of this opportunity. For a detailed description of the course, see page 49.

Courses in Romance Linguistics and in Methods of Teaching Modern Languages will also be offered, in English, without extra charge, to students in all the Language Schools. See pages 35 and 31.

Music Center The Middlebury Music Center, opened last summer on the college campus, will offer courses in musical theory and practice, both instrumental and vocal, under the direction of leading musicians. The members of the staff are chosen for their skill as teachers, as well as for their artistic talent. Detailed information about the school will be gladly sent on request.
The Music Center will participate in the reciprocal arrangement described above for the Language Schools. On permission, a student enrolled in the Music Center may audit courses in any of the Language Schools without extra charge, or enroll regularly on payment of an extra fee of $10 per course. Likewise, a student in a Language School may take work in the Music Center if by reason of his language proficiency, he receives the consent of his Dean. The intimate relation between music and the modern languages indicates that such cooperation will be most fruitful. A bulletin of the Music Center will be sent on request.

Credits  Students who desire credits must indicate that fact when they register, and, if candidates for a Middlebury degree, they must present evidence of their qualifications before their work will be counted, either for baccalaureate or advanced degrees. An official transcript bearing the seal of Middlebury College will be issued upon application to the Recorder of the Language Schools. This transcript will note the names of courses, grades attained, and credits earned. A fee of fifty cents will be charged for all copies after the original. No certificates will be given for attendance, and none to students who do not take the final examinations.

Not more than six credits may be gained in one summer by an undergraduate, and not more than eight credits by a graduate student. No student will receive credit who has completed less than the full session (thirty classroom exercises, per course, not including examinations). (See pages 37, 54, 66, and 85.) A graduate student must receive a mark of “B” in a course in order to obtain credit for that course. The undergraduate passing mark is “C,” subject to the regulations of the student’s own college.

One credit or point is equal to one semester hour, that is, one recitation a week during a semester, or fifteen class exercises. Each summer course meeting daily (five times a week for six weeks) is equivalent to two semester hours.

Examinations  In each school the last days of the session are devoted to the final examinations. They are required of students who desire credits, transcripts, or recommendations, and it is advisable that all should take them. The New York State written Examination for Approval of Oral Work is given at Middlebury early in August.

The Master's Degree  Candidates for a Master's Degree must hold a baccalaureate degree from some college approved by the Committee on Graduate Work.
To obtain the degree of Master of Arts at Middlebury College, thirty credits are necessary. Twenty of the thirty credits must be earned at Middlebury College. Thirty credits may be gained by proficient students in four summer sessions. Students with six or more credits accepted from other institutions may complete their work for the Master’s Degree in three summers.

The Committee on Graduate Work (Prof. H. G. Owen, chairman) will pass upon the credentials and courses of candidates for the Master’s Degree. Students desiring to transfer graduate credits earned at other institutions should present them to the Dean of their school for recommendation and transmission to the Committee on Graduate Work.

Study in a foreign country in approved summer courses may be counted toward the M.A. Degree from Middlebury. Each individual case must be approved by the Dean, and sanctioned by the Committee on Graduate Work. Six credits may be allowed for an equivalent of ninety hours of class exercises followed by examinations. Six credits is the maximum allowed for a summer session of foreign study. In any case, twenty credits for the M.A. must be gained at Middlebury College.

Students desiring to count credits taken at Middlebury toward degrees to be secured elsewhere should obtain permission to do so from the institution to which they wish the credits transferred.

Degrees are conferred both in June and in August following the completion of the work. A fee of $15 is required for the diploma.

The Degree of Doctor of Modern Languages Besides the Master’s Degree, the Middlebury Language Schools now offer an advanced degree: Doctor of Modern Languages (D.M.L.). The principal requirements are:

1. The Master’s Degree, with a language major, from some recognized university.
2. Residence at Middlebury College equivalent to five year-courses or thirty credits. This will ordinarily require four summers’ residence, but the basis of the requirement is chiefly the fulfillment of a program, not merely a given total of points. The student will be required to complete the main lines or groups of the curriculum—Philology, Stylistics, Phonetics, Literature, Civilization and Teaching Methods.
3. Two semesters’ residence in a foreign country of the major language. This time should be spent in study in approved courses amounting to twelve hours a week (or twenty-four semester hours) of class exercises, or equivalent research. The work must be done according to a plan previously approved by the Dean of the respective school, and the final results must also be approved by him. Work done in a foreign country prior to the student’s enrollment as a candidate for the D.M.L. cannot be accepted. Summer sessions may not be substituted for this requirement of two semesters’ foreign residence.
4. A major language.
   a. A thorough knowledge of and the ability to use the spoken and written language, tested by an oral and written examination.
b. A thorough study of and training in phonetics. Candidates will be required to do one summer's work in a phonetics laboratory, and to write a report on their research.

c. A scientific study of modern methods of teaching foreign languages. Besides attendance in the courses of methods at Middlebury, candidates will be required to teach at least one year under supervision. Statements will be requested from superintendents of schools, heads of departments, and others as to the success of the candidate's teaching and his professional ability. No student will be granted the D.M.L. who cannot be unqualifiedly recommended as an experienced and successful teacher of the language.

5. A final oral examination conducted entirely in the major language, before a board including native members of the faculty; this examination to cover all elements of the candidate's preparation—phonetics, pedagogy, literature, etc. (This training should include a certain amount of philological preparation—Phonology, Morphology, etc. These subjects should be studied primarily with the idea of the help they may afford to the knowledge and teaching of the modern languages.)

6. A minor language (preferably a Romance Language). This will be tested by an oral and written examination. The candidate's knowledge of the language should be sufficient at least to teach successfully the intermediate courses in the language.

7. A reading knowledge of a third modern language. For majors in a Romance Language, a reading knowledge of German is required.

8. A dissertation in the major language. This dissertation, which should approximate 35,000 words, is intended to prove a thorough and understanding study of some subject, literary, phonetic, or pedagogical, which is worth a careful study. It must embody considerable original work and reflection, must show a mastery of the field, clearness of thought and must be written in correct and easy style. The subject must be chosen and the preparation continued under the guidance of some member of the Middlebury faculty.

Offices     The Language Schools enjoy the full use of the buildings and grounds of the College. The office of the President and Director of the Language Schools is on the second floor of the Old Chapel. The office of the Director of the French School is on the first floor of Forest Hall, and that of the Dean is on the first floor of Le Château. The office of the Director of the Spanish School is in Painter Hall. The office of the Director of the Italian School is in Hillcrest. The offices of the Director and Dean of the German School are at the Bristol High School.

Living Accomodations     At the Romance Language Schools on the Middlebury Campus, students are accommodated in the college dormitories and board is provided in the college dining rooms. All rooms are completely furnished by the college; blankets, sheets and towels are supplied. Arrangements for personal laundry may be made after arrival, with the matrons of the halls of residence.
At the German School at Bristol, students are accommodated in private homes near the school; board is provided at the Bristol Inn, which is also the center of the school's social life. Rooms are completely furnished; bedding and linen supplied.

Opening of the Session The Romance Language Schools at Middlebury will open the session of 1939 on Friday, June 30, and will continue until August 17th. August 14 and 15 will be taken for final examinations. Classes are conducted five days in the week.

The houses of residence will open to receive students on Friday, June 30, and lunch will be served at 12.30 p.m. No guests can be received earlier. All houses will close after lunch, Thursday noon, August 17, and no guests can be accommodated after that time.

On Sunday afternoon, July 2, at five o'clock, the formal opening of the Schools will be held at Mead Memorial Chapel. The students of all the Romance Language Schools are requested to be present at these exercises. President Moody will welcome the students and introduce the visiting professors.

The German School at Bristol will open its session on Monday, July 3, and will continue until August 17. The opening exercises will be held Monday evening, July 3. The houses of residence will be open to receive students on Monday, July 3, and the first meal will be served at 6.30 p.m. No guests can be received earlier except by special arrangement. All houses of residence will be closed after breakfast, Thursday, August 17, and no guests can be accommodated after that date.

Registration of Students It is important that immediately upon arrival students should consult the Director or Dean of their school in regard to the definite selection of courses.

At the Romance Language Schools, the Deans will be at their respective offices from 9 a.m. to 12 m., and from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. Friday and Saturday, June 30 and July 1. Immediately after this consultation, the students should register with the Recorder of the Language Schools in Old Chapel.

At the German School, the Director and Dean will be at the school library in the Bristol High School on Monday, July 3. Immediately after this consultation, the students should register with the Recorder of the Language Schools, who will be at the German School library after 4 p.m. Monday, July 3.

In all the schools, late registration after the first day of instruction will be accepted only on special permission secured in advance from the Dean, and will be subject to a fine.

General
For further information concerning arrival and registration, see pages 42, 54, 71, 84.

Fees  The following information about fees should be carefully noted:

French  In the French School, rates vary according to the houses of residence and single or double occupancy of rooms. The inclusive fee for registration, tuition, board and room will be from $200 to $245. Nearly all the desirable single rooms may be secured at $235, while a large number of comfortable double rooms are listed as low as $210.

Italian  Rates in the Italian School will vary according to the room reserved, from $200 to $230, for registration, tuition, board and room.

Spanish  A uniform charge of $225 covers registration, tuition, board and room, in the Spanish School. Rooms in Hepburn will be reserved in the order of application.

German  A uniform charge of $215 covers registration, tuition, board at the Bristol Inn and room for the period of the session. Rooms will be assigned in order of application, the most desirable rooms being given to those students who make early reservations.

Room Deposit  Since accommodations are limited, it is advisable that room reservations be made as early as possible. Rooms will be held without charge prior to April 15, after which date a retaining fee of $15 is required. This fee will be credited on the student’s account at the opening of the session when the balance of the account is payable. In case of cancellation before May 15, the fee will be refunded. In case of cancellation after June 15, the fee will be forfeited. Cancellations received after May 15 and up to June 15 will be credited to the student’s account for the following year, for one year only. (A fee carried over from the previous year is not subject to refund under any circumstances.) Correspondence regarding room reservations may be addressed to Miss Virginia Ingalls at the Language Schools Office.

Non-Resident  The tuition fee for students rooming outside is $110. Such persons may be boarded in the dining halls, if there is place for them.

Auditors  All courses are open to visiting at any time by students regularly enrolled in any of the Language Schools. Such auditors are not entitled to take part in the class discussions, nor to receive attention from the professor. Persons who are not members of these schools may enroll as auditors under the above conditions, on payment of a fee of $10.00 per week, with a maximum of $40.00 for four weeks or more. Auditors are also entitled to attend social events and evening entertainments. To enroll as a regular member of a course, a student must pay the full tuition charge.

Other Schools  A student registered in one of the Language Schools or in the Music Center may, on permission, enroll for credit in courses in another of the Language Schools, on payment of an extra fee of $10 per course. Such additional enrollments will be received at the end of the first week of classes. He may also be permitted to take part or all of his meals in the dining hall of another school; such an arrangement must be requested during the registration period. See page 5.
Late Registration

Students registering after the first day of instruction will be required to pay a fine of $3.00 for the first day and $1.00 additional for each day during the first week of classes, after which no registrations will be accepted.

Transcript

An official transcript bearing the seal of Middlebury College will be issued without charge upon request to the Recorder of the Language Schools. This transcript will note the names of courses, grades attained, and credits earned. No certificates will be given for attendance, and none to students who do not take the final examinations. A fee of $0.50 is charged for each additional transcript, bearing one summer's credit. A fee of $1.00 is charged for transcripts covering credit of two or more summers.

Fees

Refunds

Owing to fixed obligations for service, instruction, and maintenance charges, persons arriving late or leaving school before the close of the session, must not expect reimbursement of any charges for the unconsumed time. No allowances will be made for week-end absences.

Payments

Students are urgently advised to avoid unnecessary delays and inconvenience by bringing all money for fees, board, and lodging, etc. in the form of money orders, express checks, or cashier's checks of an accredited bank. Checks should be made payable to Middlebury College.

Student Mail

In order to insure prompt delivery of their mail, students in the Romance Language Schools should have all letters and other mail matter addressed to the house of residence to which they are assigned. German School students should have mail sent in care of the German School.

Railroad Routes

Middlebury can be reached from New York City or Boston by the Rutland Railroad. Students leaving New York or Boston in the morning will arrive in the afternoon. Night sleepers leaving New York or Boston arrive in the morning. Students on the route of the Delaware and Hudson can make connections on the Rutland Railroad at Rutland, Vt. Students from the West reach Middlebury via the New York Central changing at Albany, N. Y. for the Rutland.

German School students should buy tickets and check baggage to New Haven, Vermont, the next stop north of Middlebury. A bus to Bristol meets all trains.
The French School
PROFESSOR ANDRÉ MORIZE of Harvard University, Director of the Middlebury French Summer School since 1926, is in personal charge of the session of 1939. He will devote his entire time to teaching and to conferences with the students. Professor Vincent Guilloton of Smith College will continue as Assistant Director; and Mme L. Gall-Bernot as Assistant to the Director. The above, with Dean Stephen A. Freeman, will constitute the officers of the School.

The School is happy to announce the return of M. Pierre de Lanux, director of the Paris office of the League of Nations from 1924 to 1934, now director of the Paris office of the French Information Center, and one of the leaders of the Centre d'Études de Politique Étrangère. M. de Lanux is also an author, journalist, and lecturer of international reputation and influence. His teaching was enthusiastically received by students at Middlebury in 1936.

Other new and outstanding names in the teaching staff are Mme Yvonne François-Michel of Paris, authority on French social problems; M. Louis Joxe, expert on international relations; Dean Henry Grattan Doyle, of The George Washington University, until recently Editor of the Modern Language Journal; M. Paul Minault of the University of Minnesota.

Together with the larger part of last summer’s staff, several successful teachers of previous summers will return; Mlle Germaine Brée of Bryn Mawr College; Mlle Andrée Bruel of Wellesley College; Mlle A. Le Jolly of Pine Manor Junior College; Mlle Madeleine Leliepvre of the Lycée de Bordeaux and Vassar College; Miss Kathryn O’Brien of Brookline High School, Massachusetts; Mme Renée Perrot Orangers; and Mlle Annick Soubigou.

Administrative Staff and Auxiliary Personnel

STAFF OF MUSICIANS

The Middlebury Music Center will cooperate actively with the Language Schools. The French School especially will benefit by its presence. The Sunday evening concerts of chamber music will be given by the distinguished artists connected with the Music Center. Theoretical and practical instruction given at the Music Center will be open to students in the Language Schools. (See page 7.) Full details concerning these opportunities will be found in the Music Center bulletin, which will be sent on request. The musical staff of the French School will be constituted as follows:

MME OLGA AVERINO, Soloist.
First studied piano at the Imperial Conservatory, Moscow; then took up vocal work, and has had a brilliant career as a soprano soloist. After singing the principal roles in many operas in Russia, she spent two years in China and then came to the United States, where she has had great success. Soloist with the Boston Symphony Orchestra, twelve re engagements; Washington National Orchestra; Mrs. G. S. Coolidge Festivals in Chicago and Pittsfield; League of Composers, New York, etc.

HORACE BRITT, Violoncello.
Early studies in music at the Conservatoire de Paris, where he won the first prize in violoncello at the age of fourteen. Concertized and conducted in Europe, the United States, Canada, Mexico, Cuba, South America, and the Far East. Former instructor of violoncello and Chamber Music classes at the Curtis Institute of Music. Soloist with the major symphony orchestras in the United States. Member of the Barrère-Britt Concertino and the Barrère-Salzedo-Britt Trio.

FRANK CLAWSON, Viola.

HENRI DEERING, Pianist.

MISCHA ELZON, Violin.
Studied under Touche, d'Indy, Lefebvre, Cesar Thompson and Leroux. First prize from the Conservatoire de Paris at the age of sixteen. Concert tours in France, Switzerland, and Germany, as well as engagements with the Colonne, Pasdeloup and other orchestras in Paris. Has appeared as soloist with the Minneapolis and Barrère Little Symphonies, on coast to coast radio programmes, in the Beethoven Association series, and in recital with Mme Schumann-Heink. Member of the Barrère-Britt Concertino.

A competent organist and choir leader will be appointed.

New and Special Features for 1939

1. The return of M. Pierre de Lanux as Visiting Professor from France repeats a rare opportunity to study contemporary France in its relation to national and international problems, under the guidance of a renowned authority. M. de Lanux has been an assiduous and keen observer of international life, during the three momentous years since his last visit to Middlebury. In connection with his duties in the French Information Center, and the Centre d'Études de Politique Étrangère, he has delivered many lectures in Europe and the United States. In these critical times, his message will have a moral as well as an academic importance.

2. M. Morize will offer a new course in modern French writers, and will lecture on Tuesday evenings.

3. M. Louis Joxe, whose course was so successful last summer, and whose presence was so stimulating for the entire school, will give two courses: the Historical Factors of Contemporary France, and Contemporary French Civilization.

4. Dean Henry Grattan Doyle of The George Washington University, until recently Editor of the Modern Language Journal, a hispanist and humanist of note, will teach the advanced course in Methods for the three Romance Language Schools.

5. The outstanding authority in this country on Eighteenth Century French Literature, Professor Albert Schinz, will give a course in that field.

6. Mme Yvonne François Michel, who comes to the school direct from Paris, will offer a course—probably the first of its kind ever given in an American university—on Current Social Problems in France.

7. M. Moulinot, brilliant pupil of the Conservatoire National de Paris, will bring to the school's dramatic activities the same enthusiasm which made them so successful last summer.

8. The return of Mlle Leliepvre and Mlle Bruel will be welcomed by both faculty and students.

9. The Phonetics Department, with a new recording phonograph and improved equipment, will offer in addition a laboratory course in experimental phonetics and a carefully organized "clinique" for individual correction of pronunciation, and personal conferences with instructors, at the Phonetics Center.

10. The Middlebury Music Center will again place its talented staff at the disposal of the French School for concerts and recitals; and it will also offer unusual opportunities to those students who may be interested in devoting part of their time to the study of music under expert teachers.

11. The Dussane Scholarship of $100; the Forest Hall Scholarship of $50; the two James Richardson Scholarships of $50 each; two tuition scholarships offered through the American Association of Teachers of French; and the Cercle Français of Radcliffe College; ten regular scholarships of $50 each.

EVENING LECTURES

On Tuesday evenings, there will be a series of lectures on various aspects of French life and culture. All members of the school are urged to attend these lectures. Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Gymnasium.

M. de Lanux, M. Joxe, M. Morize, M. Guilloton.

French
DAILY COURSES
Group A. Language
Directeur d'études, M. Guilleton

11. ADVANCED FRENCH STYLISTICS.
   The purpose of this course is to enable advanced students to acquire a finer feeling for French style, a sense for shades of expression, a complete mastery of certain difficulties which more elementary courses do not discuss. It combines theoretical lessons in stylistics with advanced exercises in translation. Personal conferences will give students an opportunity to discuss their work with the professor. The course will be strictly limited to twenty students.
   Daily at 8.00 in Château A.  M. Guilleton.

12. ADVANCED COMPOSITION.
   This course, less advanced than Course 11 and with more emphasis laid on grammar, is intended especially for students who, having a good general knowledge of French, have not yet mastered certain peculiarities of grammar, and other difficulties of the written language. The method comprises (1) the translation from English into French of texts of increasing difficulty; (2) class discussion of this translation; (3) the study of a certain number of important points of grammar. Students will be required to hand in at least two written exercises each week. Each section will be strictly limited to twenty students.
   Note: A written test will be given at the first meeting of this course. According to the preparation and ability indicated by this test, students will be assigned to this course, or to Course 11 or 13.
   Sect. I at 8.00 in Château B.  M. Darbelnet.
   Sect. II at 9.00 in Château A.  Mme Gall-Bernot.
   Sect. III at 10.00 in Château B.  Mlle Brée.

13. COMPOSITION AND ADVANCED GRAMMAR.
   This course pursues two general objectives: 1. It aims to strengthen the background and broaden the range of the American teacher of French grammar and composition; 2. It seeks to train the students in the use of correct, idiomatic French. The work is theoretical and practical. Theoretical grammar is reviewed in the light of actual usage, and the traditional treatment of it in text-books and in the classroom is scrutinized, reevaluated, and brought in closer contact with actual linguistic facts. Abundant practice is provided in writing idiomatic French and in the practical application of grammatical principles.
   Note: A written test will be given early in the course. According to the results of this test, students will be assigned to the proper section of this course, or to Course 12 or 14.
   Sect. I at 8.00 in Chemistry 14.  M. Pargment.
   Sect. II at 8.00 in Chemistry 11.  Mlle Avizou.
   Sect. IV at 10.00 in Chemistry 14.  M. Minault.
   Sect. VI at 12.00 in Chemistry 11.  M. Ranty.
14. INTERMEDIATE COMPOSITION AND REVIEW GRAMMAR.
A thorough review of French syntax and analysis of its essential difficulties; direct method exercises, constant oral and written practice. The course is intended for students who have only an incomplete mastery of the language; it aims to impart a reasonable degree of proficiency in the use of written French, and a systematic review and application of the fundamental principles of grammar.
Note: A written test will be given early in the course. According to the results of this test, students will be assigned to the proper section of this course, or to Course 13.
(This course does not count toward the M.A. degree.)
Sect. I at 11.00 in Chemistry 11.
Sect. II at 12.00 in Chemistry 14.
M. RANTY.
M. PARGMENT.

15. FREE COMPOSITION.
The purpose of this course is to improve the student’s ability to “write” French. It is an approach to the mastery of French style, on a less advanced level than Courses 11 or 12. Students will receive instruction in the most important features of good written French, and guidance in choice of words, syntax, and elements of style. Narrations, descriptions, essays, and short dissertations on general topics will be submitted by the students for correction and analysis in class. Special emphasis will be laid on logical composition and structure of paragraphs. The course does not aim at the teaching of French grammar, and will be open only to students who have a satisfactory knowledge of it.
Daily at 8.00 in Recitation Hall 4.
MLLE LELIEPvre.

Group B. Phonetics and Diction
Directeur d’études pour la phonétique, M. CONSTANS
Directeur d’études pour la diction, MME MOUSSU

21. LABORATORY COURSE IN EXPERIMENTAL PHONETICS.
Practical use of the essential instruments of experimental phonetics. Each student will choose a problem for research, and will write a report based on his own experiments.
The course is open also to approved students in the Spanish and Italian Schools. Afternoon hours to be arranged, in the Phonetics Center.
M. CONSTANS, assisted by Miss DODD.

22. ADVANCED PHONETICS.
This course is designed for students who already have a good knowledge of phonetics, and whose French pronunciation is found sufficiently correct. The method is scientific, and at the same time simple and practical. References to the scientific theory of phonetics will be made in connection with its practical application. The aim of the course is to teach students the pronunciation accepted among cultivated French people, to improve their individual pronunciation, and to give them a practical method of teaching phonetics to their own pupils. Phonographs and discs will be frequently used in this course.
Sect. I at 9.00 in Warner 5.
Sect. II at 10.00 in Warner 5.
Sect. III at 12.00 in Warner 5.
MME BERTRAND.
MME BERTRAND.
MME BERTRAND.
23. INTERMEDIATE PHONETICS.
A continued study of practical phonetics, with its application to personal pronunciation. Correct formation of French sounds. Sounds in isolation and combination. Oral exercises and ear training. Phonographs and discs will be used.

Sect. I at 8.00 in Warner 9.
Mlle Bélujon.
Sect. II at 9.00 in Warner 9.
Mlle Bélujon.
Sect. III at 10.00 in Warner 9.

Sect. IV at 12.00 in Warner 9.
Mlle Bélujon.

24. ELEMENTARY PHONETICS.
The beginnings of a scientific training in French pronunciation, based on phonetics. Methodical comparison of English and French sounds. This course is intended for students who have never studied phonetics, and for those who have never attacked the problem of their own pronunciation in a scientific manner. Intensive oral and ear training.

Sect. I at 9.00 in Warner 14.
Mlle Le Jolly.
Sect. II at 10.00 in Warner 14.
M. Constans.
Sect. III at 11.00 in Warner 14.

Sect. IV at 11.00 in Warner 9.
Mlle Fouré.
Sect. V at 12.00 in Warner 14.
Mlle Fouré.

25. DICTION, INTONATION, ELOCUTION.
This course is of capital importance to complete the work done in phonetics. It is an application to diction and elocution of the principles taught in courses in phonetics. Its essential aim is to correct the mistakes in French intonation so frequent among Anglo-Saxons, and to acquire, not an artificial pronunciation, but the expressive and musical shading of French diction, used in ordinary conversation as well as in reading or speaking in public. Phonographs and discs will be frequently used, as well as the recording phonograph and dictaphone, enabling students to analyze and correct their own diction. The work will be essentially "personal" and systematic. Placement tests will be given at the beginning, and the number of students in each section will be limited to twenty.

Sect. I at 11.00 in Old Chapel 2.
Mme Moussu.
Sect. II at 12.00 in Old Chapel 2.
Mme Moussu.

26. PRACTICE IN READING FRENCH.
This course will give students who have already mastered the essentials of French pronunciation an opportunity to practice reading aloud under competent supervision. The texts used will be prose, often in dialogue or dramatic form, and special emphasis will be laid on the proper shading and intonation.

(This course does not count toward the M.A. degree.)
Daily at 8.00 in Old Chapel 6.
M. Moulinot.

Note: All students in the School, and especially those in the phonetics department are urged to make the largest possible use of the Phonetics Center. The new recording apparatus, which achieves amazing fidelity on the new acetate discs, together with improved installation, makes the Center more efficient and helpful than ever. The phonetics instructors will hold regular consultation hours at the Center, to assist students with their pronunciation problems, and to criticize their recordings.
31. THE TEACHING OF MODERN FOREIGN LANGUAGES: PROBLEMS AND METHODS.

This course is designed for teachers in service who have had an elementary methods course.

Among the topics to be considered are: the place of modern foreign languages in the curriculum; the history of modern foreign language teaching in the United States; aims and objectives; analysis of methods; course-content; representative syllabi; prognosis and achievement tests; word-frequency and syntax counts; recent trends in textbooks and other materials; criteria for the selection of textbooks; supplementary aids and devices; the modern foreign languages as a social study; the general language course; the civilization course; the obligations and responsibilities of the modern foreign language teacher; professional ideals. Readings, reports, panel discussions.

Note: Since this course is concerned with the teaching not only of French but of all the modern foreign languages, and since the material of the course is found chiefly in books written in the technical English of modern pedagogy, the course will be open without extra charge to students in all the Language Schools, and will be conducted in English.

Daily at 2.00 in Warner Hemicycle.

Mr. Doyle.

32. INTRODUCTION TO THE TEACHING OF FRENCH.

This course is designed for persons who have not taught French or who have not had a methods course in the subject.

An examination of values, objectives, and actual results of the study of French for the pupil in American secondary schools. Introduction to the literature of methodology. Demonstration of methods. Investigation of the psychology of language learning. Study of problems and practical exercises in the presentation, learning, and testing of vocabulary, pronunciation, and grammar. Relation of oral work, reading for inference, composition, etc. to development of comprehension and reading power. Selection of textbooks and source materials. Readings, discussions, class reports, and demonstrations.

Text: Baker, F. M., The Teaching of French, Houghton-Mifflin. Assigned readings. Students are also requested to bring copies of the textbooks they are using in teaching.

Daily at 2.00 in Old Chapel 6.

Miss O'Brien.

Note: Mr. Doyle and Miss O'Brien will also hold private consultation hours for all members of the school, at their respective offices. Students are urged to avail themselves of this opportunity, even if they are not enrolled in the courses in methods.

33. FRENCH CLUB ACTIVITIES.

The Cercle Français should be a lively centre where the various activities of a department of French maintain helpful and inspiring contacts with each other. This is most likely to occur where there is alert and well-informed direction. In this course, the various practical problems involved will be carefully considered:

French
the initial organization of a Cercle, the means of creating and maintaining a French atmosphere, the psychological background, the mastery of the requisite procedures, the finding and utilization of desirable material. Type programs will be worked out with all necessary documentation. Ways of providing entertainment and of fostering sociability will not be forgotten. Songs, games, plays, dramatizations and adaptations, source material, the use of magazines, newspapers, photographs, stereopticon slides, films, etc., will be studied. Students will have access to the valuable reference library and the material collected in Pearsons Hall. Ample opportunity will be given for personal conference with the instructors about special problems.

Daily at 10.00 in Pearsons Hall. Mr. Jameson, assisted by Miss Crandall.

35. THE WORKSHOP.

The purpose of the "Atelier" is to present a large number of practical suggestions, directions, and demonstrations for stimulating the interest of students in classroom work and in the French Club; e.g. the making of provincial costumes (materials, sources of supplies, patterns, dolls); staging short plays, properties, accessories, make-up; building a Guignol Theatre, making and dressing marionettes, etc. The "Atelier" will be especially useful to students in Course 33 in connection with projects for costumes, games, dramatics, and their accessories; but all students are invited to join in its experimental activities. Toward the end of the session, there will be an exhibition of the work done by students.

The opportunities offered by the "Atelier" are open to students who plan to attend it regularly, as well as to those who wish to avail themselves of its help for only a limited period of time or in connection with a definite project.

(No academic credits are allowed for this course.)

Daily at 8.00 in Recitation Hall 1. Mme Perrot Orangers.

36. CULTURAL CORRELATION FOR TEACHERS OF FRENCH.

The purpose of this course is to acquaint the students with the wide variety of possibilities and methods enabling them to correlate the teaching of French with other vital subjects. "Correlation" is now definitely established as an essential feature of progressive education. Through lectures, personal consultations, practical demonstrations, discussions of available equipment, exhibits of illustrative documents, charts, maps, and work done by pupils, students will be made familiar both with the method and with the necessary material. They will be shown how to connect the teaching of French with the history of French civilization, literature, sciences, art, and music, as well as with the general history of European and American civilization; how to direct pupils in their personal investigation, in the production of illustrative material, and in the writing of original papers on topics of special interest to them.

Daily at 9.00 in Pearsons Hall. Mlle Rey.
41. INTERNATIONAL LIFE: THE RESPONSIBILITY OF THE INDIVIDUAL.
This course will comprise first an historical survey of the whole field of international problems since 1917. The foreign policy of France will be the subject of a particularly careful study. In the second part, the central theme will be the analysis of the responsibility—not only of a nation, but of the citizen, of man—in the present and the future of human society: the rôle of the individual, the formation of an international consciousness, the importance of education, the part played by a personal ideal in international life.

The lectures will be supplemented by regularly organized discussions, in which students and teachers will be able to exchange their opinions freely, and ask questions.
Daily at 11.00 in Warner Hemicyle. M. DE LANUX.
Discussion period: Mondays at 3.00 in the Château Grand Salon.

42. REPRESENTATIVE FRENCH WRITERS OF TODAY.
The course will consist of a careful study of several important French writers of the present day, both novelists and poets, together with an analysis and discussion of selected pages from their works. Such authors as Jean Giraudoux, Jules Romains, Georges Duhamel, and François Mauriac will be treated, as well as some modern poets who were not included in the course on French poets given last year.
Daily at 12.00 in Warner Hemicyle. M. MORIZE.

43. (PROBLEMS AND METHODS OF LITERARY HISTORY.)
Omitted in 1939; to be given in 1940.
Note: All students, especially doctorate candidates, who are working on a problem of literary research, or any other academic project, should not fail to profit by the individual guidance offered by the school staff. Personal interviews and consultations will be arranged, through the Director and Assistant Director, with members of the staff who specialize in the same field. Such assistance is gladly offered, and students are urged to take advantage of it.

45. THE HISTORICAL FACTORS OF CONTEMPORARY FRANCE.
The purpose of this course is to present a general picture of the history of France, emphasizing especially the great events, the institutions, and the problems whose influence has been decisive and permanent in shaping the national life of France, and which it is indispensable to know in order to understand the France of today.
Lectures, discussions, reports by the students.
Daily at 10.00 in Warner Hemicyle. M. JOXE.

46. CONTEMPORARY FRENCH CIVILIZATION.
This course is designed to give the student a better understanding of present-day France, its institutions and culture. It will include an analysis of the following topics: the political situation, the governmental organization and the multi-party system, the press, the educational system, the religious situation, family life, the economic situation, etc.
In addition to discussion led by the instructor, there will be regular assignments for reading and study, oral and written reports, and other practical exercises.
Daily at 8.00 in Recitation Hall 2. M. JOXE.
49. CURRENT SOCIAL PROBLEMS IN FRANCE.
   The purpose of this course is to discuss some of the important social problems of modern France, and, incidentally, to establish a direct correlation between the teaching of French and some aspects of the "social sciences." Some subjects to be treated are: the social and legal status of the working man, either in industry or in agriculture; the condition of women and children; the liberal professions; recent reforms and legislation; questions of labor organizations, strikes, public relief, etc. This new course will bring up-to-the-minute information for the understanding of contemporary France. Lectures, discussions, reading reports.
   Daily at 10.00 in Recitation Hall 2. Mme Michel.

52. DEVELOPMENT OF FRENCH DRAMA.
   A survey of the history of the French theatre, from the Renaissance to the present day. A study of the general dramatic tendencies of each century and of the most significant writers. The list of works to be studied is made up largely of plays familiar to reading courses. The purpose of the course is to attempt literary evaluation of these works in the light of the evolution of the French drama and literature. Collateral readings, class discussion, written reports.
   Daily at 12.00 in Château B. M. Denkinger.

53. STUDIES IN THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE FRENCH NOVEL.
   This course does not intend to be a rapid survey of the evolution of the French novel in general; its purpose is to study a certain number of masterpieces which are representatives of various periods, tendencies, or literary schools, such as l'Astrée, La Princesse de Clèves, Manon Lescaut, Paul et Virginie, René, Adolphe, and works of Victor Hugo, G. Sand and Balzac. Lectures, collateral readings, discussions, written reports.
   Daily at 11.00 in Recitation Hall 2. Mlle Bruel.
56. FRENCH LITERATURE OF THE EIGHTEENTH CENTURY.

An historical and critical survey of French thought as reflected in French literature from the death of Louis XIV (1715) to the beginning of the French Revolution. A study of the ideas that are carried over from the XVIIth century, of ideas that undergo a transformation, of new ideas—as expressed in society (salons, press, cosmopolitanism, etc.), on the stage, in the novel. Particular attention will be devoted to Montesquieu, the Encyclopedists, Voltaire, and Rousseau. Lectures, collateral reading, discussions, explications de textes.

For historical and social background, students are referred to Stryienski, Le XVIIIe Siècle (Hachette), and to L. Ducros, La Société française au XVIIIe Siècle (Hatier). For general history of literature: Des Granges or Bédier et Hazard. Texts studied in class will be found in Schinz, Eighteenth Century French Readings (Holt). Students intending to take this course are invited to acquaint themselves in advance with these works.

Daily at 9.00 in Warner Hemicycle.

57. FRENCH LITERATURE OF THE SEVENTEENTH CENTURY.

Lectures, short tests on essential historical and biographical data, readings. Aids to study (mimeographed sheets, classical texts, documentary illustrations, etc.) will be supplied at various times. Students should own a good manual of French literature, preferably Lanson et Tuffrau, Manuel ill. (Hachette). The anthology to be used is Peyre and Grant, Seventeenth Century French Prose and Poetry, (Heath). The course is designed to give the student a broad understanding of the unfolding of the classical school, full attention being given to other great writers besides the dramatists (Descartes, Pascal, etc.). Collateral readings, class discussion, lectures.

Daily at 9.00 in Château B.

58. (THE RENAISSANCE AND ITS GREAT WRITERS.)

Omitted in 1939; to be given in 1940.

59. LIFE AND LITERATURE OF THE MIDDLE AGES.

The purpose of this course is to acquaint the students with some vital aspects of the civilization and literature of medieval France up to the beginning of the Renaissance. After a brief introduction dealing with the period in general, a special emphasis will be laid on the various literary productions, including the "romans" which, on one hand, help to understand the life of the times, and, on the other hand, explain later developments in French literature.

Daily at 9.00 in Recitation Hall 2.

61. ROMANCE LINGUISTICS.

A general study of the fundamental principles governing the development of the Romance Languages from Latin through Vulgar Latin, with especial reference to French, Spanish, and Italian. Practical exercises and readings of texts.

This course is designed to provide teachers of the Romance Languages with a knowledge of comparative philology indispensable to their teaching. It also meets the requirements for the Doctorate in Modern Languages.

The course is open without further charge to students regularly enrolled in the Schools of French, Italian, and Spanish. Because of this fact, the class work will be conducted in English in so far as is necessary. A knowledge of all three languages is not indispensable.

Reference books: C. H. Grandgent, An Introduction to Vulgar Latin; Bourciez, Éléments de linguistique romane; Guarnerio, Fonologia romanza; Meyer-Lübke, Introducción al Estudio de la Lingüística Romance.

Daily at 2.00 in Old Chapel 9.

Mr. Solano.

63. EXPLICATIONS DE TEXTES—MODERN AUTHORS.

Practical direction and help in the reading and the interpretation of French authors, according to a method extensively used in French universities. Demonstrations and criticisms by the instructor, written preparation and oral practice by the students. Short passages from representative nineteenth and twentieth century authors will be chosen for detailed analysis. The course will also be valuable for a review of the main currents of modern French literature.

Daily at 10.00 in Château A.

Mme Perrier.

64. TEXTBOOK READING FOR TEACHERS.

The purpose of this course is to study both from a literary and a pedagogical standpoint certain works which are often used in the secondary teaching of French. They will be considered in relation to their historical, geographical, or social background; and their literary, cultural, and human value will be emphasized. Possible exercises and class room development will be suggested. The course will be helpful to students interested in the methods of conducting a reading class.

The texts chosen for study are: Le Crime de Sylvestre Bonnard, Contes choisis de Daudet, Pêcheur d'Islande, Colomba, Cyrano de Bergerac, Contes choisis de Maupassant.

Daily at 11.00 in Château A.

Mme Perrier.

65. INTRODUCTION TO MANNERS AND CUSTOMS IN FRANCE.

This course is an experiment in educational guidance. It is designed to prepare the American student or traveler for the life which he will find in France. Both theoretical and practical, it will consider the principal traits of French character, life in Paris, in the provinces, in the country; the manners and customs of the various classes of society, codes of etiquette for private and professional life, letter writing—in short, the factual knowledge and the psychological approach essential to any American when he lands on French soil.

Daily at 12.00 in Recitation Hall 2.

Mme Michel.

Group E. Oral Practice

Directeur d'études, M. Thomas.

74. ADVANCED ORAL PRACTICE AND SELF-EXPRESSION.

Carefully selected groups, limited to ten students, for intensive training in French oral practice, public speaking, and self-expression. A detailed program arranged for each hour; prepared discussion on assigned subjects, with definite vocabulary preparation; short debates, oral reports, oral criticisms of books or articles.

This course is required for the Master's Degree. Students may enroll on approval for the first week. At the end of the week, students will be assigned to the proper section of this course, or to Course 75.

Sect. I at 8.00 in Château, petit salon.

M. Bourcier.

Sect. II at 9.00 in Château, petit salon.

M. Bourcier.

Sect. III at 10.00 in Château, petit salon.

Sect. IV at 11.00 in Château, petit salon.

Mlle Lelièpvre.
75. CONVERSATION AND VOCABULARY.

This course is intended for students who can understand French readily, but who speak it hesitatingly and who need to develop fluency and confidence in the spoken language, by a systematic method. The effective two-hour plan will again be used. The entire group of students enrolled in all the sections will meet each morning under the instruction of M. Thomas. A thorough study of the material to be used in the conversation sections for the day will be made: words, their correct pronunciation, their exact meaning, their "family," synonyms with various shades of meaning; idiomatic uses, suggestions for discussions, etc. After this general meeting, the students will meet in small sections of eight or ten, and the entire hour will be devoted to actual conversation by the students.

(This course does not count toward the M.A. degree.)

M. THOMAS and assistants.

General meeting daily at 8.00 in Warner Hemicycle; attendance required of all students enrolled in the course.

Sect. I at 9.00 in Recitation Hall 4.
Sect. II at 10.00 in Recitation Hall 4.
Sect. III at 11.00 in Recitation Hall 4.
Sect. IV at 12.00 in Chemistry 13.

76. ELEMENTS OF ORAL PRACTICE.

This course is planned for students who have a good knowledge of written French, but have had little or no opportunity to hear the language and to speak it. Those whose preparation has been chiefly by the "reading method" will be assisted in changing their vocabulary from a "passive" to an "active" one. The class work will comprise constant repetition of the elements of everyday speech—drill in the systematic increase of oral vocabulary; and the development of self-confidence in expressing ideas in a foreign language. The course is introductory to Course 75, and students may be assigned to either one according to their ability. (This course does not count toward the M.A. degree.)

Sect. I at 8.00 in Château, grand salon.
Sect. II at 11.00 in Chemistry 13.
Sect. III at 12.00 in Château, grand salon.

Credits

Two credits will be allowed for each course, unless otherwise indicated. All except Course 35 count toward the Bachelor's Degree, and all except Courses 14, 26, 35, 75 and 76 count for the Master's Degree. (The courses which do not count for the M.A. are: Intermediate Composition, Practice in Reading, The Workshop, Conversation and Vocabulary, and Elements of Oral Practice.) Courses 11 and 12, in Advanced Composition and Stylistics may, with the consent of the Dean, be taken a second summer for credit, since the material of the course is varied each year.

Course Requirements for the M. A. All candidates for the Master's Degree are required to pass, before the completion of their work, an advanced course in each of the following subjects: Stylistics, Phonetics, Methods, Literature, and Oral Practice. Courses 12, 23, 31, 74, and courses in Group D other than 61, 63, 64 and 65 satisfy these requirements. Students who have transferred credit for an equivalent course taken elsewhere may request release from the requirement.

Fees For complete information concerning fees, rules governing auditors and special registration, reservations, etc., see pages 11 and 12.

Books During the session there are two bookstores for the French School. The College Bookstore, on the ground floor of Old Chapel, carries class textbooks, dictionaries, and school editions printed in this country. The French Bookstore, in Pearsons Hall, at the left of the main entrance, attempts to reproduce for the student a bookshop in Paris, handling French texts and reference works, but specializing in modern literature. This bookstore is able to offer a wide variety of recent French works, fiction, poetry, etc., at reasonable prices.

French Libraries The French libraries, in the College library and in the Château, contain over 8,000 volumes, dealing with the French language, literature, history, and civilization. They include recent publications of note in fiction, poetry, and drama; and have recently been enriched by a very generous gift from the French government. The collections on the subjects of realia, art, and teaching methods are noteworthy.
Phonetics Center  The scientific equipment for the study of pronunciation is assembled in a coordinated unit on the ground floor of Pearsons, and is known as the Phonetics Center. Students will find there the recording phonograph, individual booths with electric phonographs equipped with ear-phones, dictaphones for temporary recording on wax cylinders, and a large collection of commercial phonograph records of French speech. Three assistants will be in charge of this equipment, and will be on duty during all class and study periods to aid students in their work. Regular consultations will also be arranged with members of the phonetics staff.

Realia Museum  A unique and valuable collection of illustrative material has been assembled at the school, and is on display at Pearsons Hall. Provincial costumes, small models of regional houses and furniture, dressed dolls, santons, Guignol accessories, shelves of books for children, illustrated magazines, language games of all sorts, railway posters, postcards and photographs of all parts of France, decorations for classrooms, and extensive files of suggested realia and sources for obtaining it—all these may be examined and consulted by students at any time during the session.

Other Equipment  All the teaching equipment of the school is exceptionally complete. In addition to the Phonetics Center and the Realia Museum, the school is well supplied with wall maps, charts, stereopticon and opaque projectors, moving picture projectors, etc. A large collection of slides on French geography, the history of French art and period styles was secured through the cooperation of the Ministère des Affaires Étrangères and M. Robert-Rey, Inspecteur général des Beaux-Arts. Extensive use is made of mimeographed material at the school, each class being supplied with full outlines, schedules, and special exercises at very small cost.

LIFE IN THE SCHOOL

Use of French  No student will be admitted to the school unless he is able and willing to use only French, during the seven weeks of the session, even in the individual dormitory rooms. At the opening of the school, each student will be required to sign a formal statement, pledging his word of honor to observe this rule of no English. The Dean reserves the right to dismiss from the school students who willfully break this rule. (See page 5.)
Dormitory Life  All the dormitories of the school are in fact French Houses, since French is the only language used. Each dormitory is under the supervision of the Dean, through his agents appointed by the college, and they are responsible to him for the discipline in the building.

In addition, provision is made for further development of the social life in each house by the appointment of hostesses. They will assist in fostering the spirit of informal friendliness between students.

There is a graduate nurse in residence on the campus, within the reach of every student. The students may feel that they are amply protected in case of any emergency.

Forest Hall  The newest and finest dormitory on the campus is Forest Hall. It is built of native stone in colonial style, and houses one hundred twenty students. All rooms are single, with washroom between every two rooms. There are reception rooms, parlors, and two dining rooms, accommodating all the students living in the building. The offices of M. Morize and M. Guilloton, as well as the faculty club room, are also located here.

Le Château  The Château is one of the most striking features enjoyed by the French School, and is a picturesque expression of the French atmosphere. The architecture of the Château is inspired by the Pavillon Henri IV of the Palace of Fontainebleau. The edifice is typically French inside and out. The large salon is attractively furnished in the period of the early eighteenth century. The Château also contains the tasteful salon of the faculty, two classrooms, a library, and the offices of the Dean.

The Other French Houses Pearson Hall is a large white marble structure of colonial style, located on a height overlooking the surrounding country in all directions. Battell Cottage is adjacent, with rooms, and a large dining hall accommodating more than a hundred. Ample, shaded grounds adjoin Battell Cottage and Pearson Hall. Chairs and benches placed on the lawn and under the trees provide pleasant opportunities for reading and study out of doors. Starr Hall is a fine old stone building in colonial style. Painter Hall, the oldest and most historic building on the campus has been completely remodeled, and now offers very attractive single and double rooms absolutely fireproof. The second floor is allotted to married couples.

Dining Halls Four dining halls serve the French School: one in Battell, one in the Château, and two in Forest Hall. The students gather at tables for seven or nine, each table presided over by a member of the faculty. Students and teachers rotate according to a fixed schedule, enabling all to get better acquainted. The table offers excellent opportunity for French conversation. Different viewpoints with a common purpose stimulate all students to participate actively in the discussions.

Entertainments The Thursday evening dramatic entertainments will be an important feature of the school life. Under the direction of M. Moulinot, graduate of the Conservatoire National, winner of the Second Prix de Comédie in 1936, groups of faculty and students will present a varied program of plays. Community singing of folk songs will continue to be an important part of these Thursday evening meetings. Chantons un peu, by R. M. Conniston, (Doubleday Doran), will be used.

There will be lectures on Tuesday evenings by M. de Lanux, M. Joxe, M. Morize and M. Guilloton, on subjects drawn from diverse phases of French life and culture.

On occasional Friday evenings, dances or other social gatherings will be organized. The annual Masquerade Ball is always a most colorful and enjoyable affair. Prizes are given for the most original costumes.

All these entertainments will be held in the college Gymnasium.
The evening program of the school will thus be as follows:
Sundays: Concert.
Mondays: Free.
Tuesdays: Lectures.
Wednesdays: French moving pictures at the local theatre.
Thursdays: Dramatics and community singing.
Fridays: Dancing as arranged.
Saturdays: Free.

Music One of the most enjoyable elements of the school program is the music, contributed by members of the staff of the Middlebury Music Center. Every Sunday evening, there is a concert of chamber music. Illustrations of French vocal music are presented by a concert soloist. These artists also participate in the chapel services on Sunday morning. For further information about the Music Center and its staff, request a bulletin of the Music Center, Mme André Morize, Director, 5 Garden Terrace, Cambridge, Mass.

Chapel Services Chapel services in French will be held, as in the past, every Sunday morning at eleven o'clock in the Mead Memorial Chapel. These services are not obligatory but all persons interested in French are invited to attend. Short organ recitals and auditions of religious music are given. The vested choir of one hundred voices will continue to be a feature of the chapel services.

Members of the Faculty in "Le Médecin malgré lui"
Arrival  Beginning Friday morning, June 30, students will be met at the train by a representative of the French School, who will direct them to taxis and assist them with arrangements for luggage.

As soon as possible, students should report to the Dean, on the third floor of Old Chapel, to register for their courses, and to receive other information. Students who arrive Friday will find it much easier to fulfill these formalities without delay. (See also page 10.)

The first official assembly of the French School will be held at the Gymnasium on Sunday evening, July 2, at 7:00. All students are required to attend. Classes begin at eight o'clock Monday morning, July 3.

Consultations  During the session, M. Morize, as Director, desires to put himself entirely at the disposal of the students. He will hold regular consultation hours at his office in Forest Hall.

M. Guilloton, Assistant Director, and Mme Gall-Bernot, Assistant to the Director, will also aid M. Morize with student interviews; they may be consulted in adjoining offices in Forest Hall.

The Dean, Mr. Freeman may be consulted at the Château Office daily from 9.00 to 1.00, and from 2.00 to 3.30, on all matters concerning courses, schedules, credits, etc.
Correspondence  Correspondence concerning courses, credits, degrees, and admission to the school should be addressed to Prof. Stephen A. Freeman, Dean of the French School, Middlebury College, Vermont. Correspondence concerning rooms and fees may be addressed to Mrs. Pamela S. Powell, or Miss Virginia Ingalls, Office of the Language Schools, Middlebury College, Middlebury, Vermont.

Winter Session  The attention of teachers is called to the fact that the Middlebury French School is in operation throughout the year. Students may enter in July, September or February. This school offers unusual advantages to those desirous of perfecting themselves in the French language and literature. The rule of speaking only French is maintained throughout the school year. The winter faculty is almost entirely native French. Regular and special courses are offered, counting toward the Master’s Degree. The school cooperates actively in securing positions for its graduates. Professor Freeman will be glad to discuss possibilities of study with anyone interested.

Scholarships  For the summer of 1939, twelve scholarships of fifty dollars each are available for students who must have financial help in order to attend the school. These scholarships will be awarded on the basis of need, merit, and scholastic promise. Application blanks may be obtained from the Dean, and must be filed before May 1. The awards will be announced before May 15.

Two of the above scholarships are made possible through the generosity of Mrs. James Richardson of Providence, R. I., who has established a fund known as the James Richardson Scholarships.

Two tuition scholarships are offered for the year 1939, one through the American Association of Teachers of French, the other through the Cercle Français of Radcliffe College. Information concerning the terms of the awards may be secured from these organizations.

In addition to the above, the School is happy to announce two special scholarships: The Bourse Dussane, of $100, and the Forest Hall Scholarship of $50, made possible by the generosity of Mme Dussane, Visiting Professor in 1938, and of the students in Forest Hall, together with contributions from other members of the School.

Self Help  Another important way in which students may assist in defraying their expenses is by waiting on table in the French dining halls. The thirty or more waiters and waitresses are students of the school, who are able to use French exclusively in the dining halls. The remuneration for this service is their board. The remaining cost of the summer session may be as low as $125. Those interested should write to Miss Mary C. Dutton, Dietitian, Middlebury College, Middlebury, Vermont, for information and application blanks.

French
The Italian School
THE ITALIAN SCHOOL

SINCE the World War, when Italy—as a united nation—had her trial by fire and revealed herself as one of the great powers of Europe, the interest of the United States in the Italian language and civilization has become keen and widespread. Preparatory schools throughout the country, as well as colleges and universities, now feel the need of offering at least a few courses in Italian. On account of the large contribution of Italy to modern philosophy and science, the study of Italian has become a necessary tool for scientific achievement, as well as for the study of art, music, and literature. The higher standard of living of a large group of Italian immigrants, who participate in American life, creating at the same time centers of Italian culture, has presented to Americans a new aspect of Italian life and new opportunities for their intellectual activity. On the other hand, the achievement of the United States, during these last twenty years, in linguistic and literary discipline, has drawn Americans inevitably toward the culture of Italy. There are rich collections of Italian books in American libraries, which await new students of Italian subjects. For all these reasons, an increasing number of positions in schools, libraries, museums, tourist offices, and banks are open to students of Italian.

The Session of 1939  The Italian School of Middlebury College was founded in 1932 by Dr. Gabriella Bosano, Chairman of the Italian Department at Wellesley College. Her high scholarship, energy, and personal charm won immediate success for the School. Following her resignation, the School was most fortunate to secure as Director, Dr. Camillo Merlino, Professor of Romance Languages at Boston University, and Secretary-Treasurer of the American Association of Teachers of Italian. Dr. Merlino is in personal charge of the organization and plans for the session of 1939.

He is happy to announce the appointment, as Visiting Professor, of Dr. Renato Poggioli of the University of Florence, formerly Professor of Italian Literature in the University of Warsaw, and now at Smith College. The faculty will also include Maestro Sandro Benelli, and Professors Teresa Carbonara, Salvatore Castiglione, Signora Pierina Castiglione, and Louis Solano, with assistants.

THE COURSES OF STUDY

Group A. Language

A. BEGINNERS’ COURSE.
Grammar; constant drill in pronunciation; dictation; conversation. Reading of modern Italian short stories and plays.
This course is open only to those students in the other Middlebury Schools who wish to begin the study of Italian. It will not be open to members of the Italian School, and will not count for graduate credit. (See page 6.)
Daily at 9.00 in Old Chapel 2.

1. INTERMEDIATE GRAMMAR AND COMPOSITION.
A thorough review of Italian grammar. Constant oral and written practice; vocabulary building; free composition; translation. This course is intended for students who have a good elementary knowledge of the language; it aims to impart a reasonable degree of proficiency in the use of the fundamental principles of grammar.
Daily at 8.00 in Old Chapel 2.

2. ADVANCED COMPOSITION.
An advanced course for students possessing a thorough knowledge of Italian. It will consist of:
Translations from English into Italian of texts of increasing difficulty.
Writing of original Italian composition.
The course aims at developing the pupil’s vocabulary and ease of expression by introducing a wide range of ideas and topics covering various aspects of life.
Italian School, 1938
The course will be based on passages chosen from leading modern authors, from whom the pupil will learn not only vocabulary but clearness in thinking.

Study, with reference to grammar and syntax, of Italian phrasing, idioms, and synonyms.

Daily at 9.00 in Old Chapel 3.

3. ORAL PRACTICE AND SELF-EXPRESSION.

a. Conversation. Three times a week, conversation on assigned topics with a definite vocabulary of everyday use. Discussion of topics bearing on the geography, life, and customs of the Italian people. “Analisi estetica”—short poems representative of the major poets of Italy, will be chosen for detailed analysis.

b. Practical phonetics. Twice a week, exercises in pronunciation based on reading aloud (short passages of prose and poetry; emphasis on rhythm and melody of the spoken language) and on a practical application of scientific phonetics.

Daily at 10.00 in Old Chapel 3.

4. ADVANCED ORAL PRACTICE AND SELF-EXPRESSION.

Intensive training in oral practice, public speaking, and self-expression. A detailed program arranged for each hour; prepared discussion on assigned subjects, with definite vocabulary preparation; short debates, oral reports, oral criticisms of books or articles.

Daily at 11.00 in Old Chapel 3.

5. ADVANCED ITALIAN STYLISTICS.

This course aims to enable the students to comprehend Italian authors in their ways of thinking and writing, and by this method to develop their own style. Passages will be chosen from modern and contemporary Italian writers and the exercises will consist of translations and creative writing.

Grammar consulted: Trabalza e Allodoli, La Grammatica degli Italiani, Firenze, Le Monnier, 1934.

Daily at 11.00 in Old Chapel 6.

Group B. Literature and Civilization

11. GENERAL VIEW OF ITALIAN CULTURE.

The major currents and characteristics of Italian civilization will be presented through an analysis of the significance of the great writers, artists, and thinkers of Italy.

Daily at 9.00 in Old Chapel 6.

Signor Merlino.

Signorina Carbonara.

Signorina Carbonara.

Signora Castiglione.
12. ITALIAN POETRY FROM PARINI TO CARDUCCI.
    An intensive study of the poetry of Parini, Monti, Foscolo, Leopardi, Manzoni and the Romantic School, with particular attention to the reading aloud and to the "analisi estetica" of this poetry.
    Daily at 10.00 in Old Chapel 9.
    Signor Castiglione.

13. MODERN ITALIAN LITERATURE.
    A study of the principal writers and literary tendencies of Italy from Carducci to the post-war period.
    Text: Camillo Pellizzi, Le lettere Italiane del nostro secolo, Milano, Libreria d'Italia, 1929.
    Daily at 12.00 in Old Chapel 3.
    Signor Poggioli.

14. DANTE AND HIS TIMES (THE PARADISO).
    In the course of three summers, the Divina Commedia is read and analyzed in its entirety in the light of the literary, political, and religious ideals of the Middle Ages. In 1939, the Paradiso will be the object of special study. This course may be taken for credit in three consecutive summers.
    Daily at 8.00 in Old Chapel 3.
    Signor Merlino.

15. ITALIAN OPERA OF THE NINETEENTH CENTURY.
    A study of the major operatic composers and of their masterpieces with some account of their influence abroad. The lectures will be illustrated with appropriate phonograph records.
    Daily at 10.00 in Old Chapel 2.
    Maestro Benelli.

16. THE TEACHING OF ITALIAN FOLK SONGS.
    The teaching of Italian folk songs of the various provinces of Italy, as a contribution to the phonetic training of the teacher and the student of Italian in the American high school. Exercises in practical music; vocal lessons.
    Daily at 12.00 in Mead Chapel.
    Maestro Benelli.

31. THE TEACHING OF MODERN FOREIGN LANGUAGES, PROBLEMS AND METHODS.
    This course is designed for teachers in service who have had an elementary methods course.
    Among the topics to be considered are: the place of modern foreign languages in the curriculum; the history of modern foreign language teaching in the United States; aims and objectives; analysis of methods; course-content; representative syllabi; prognosis and achievement tests; word-frequency and syntax counts; recent trends in textbooks and other materials; criteria for the selection of textbooks; supplementary aids and devices; the modern foreign languages as a social study; the general language course; the civilization course; the obligations and responsibilities of the modern foreign language teacher; professional ideals. Readings, reports, panel discussions.
    Texts: Cole-Tharp, Modern Foreign Languages and Their Teaching, D. Appleton-
Century; Hagboldt, Language Learning, University of Chicago Press. Library reading of selected references.

Note: Since this course is concerned with the teaching of all the modern foreign languages; and since the material of the course is found chiefly in books written in the technical English of modern pedagogy, the course will be open without charge to students in all the Language Schools, and will be conducted in English.

Daily at 2.00 in Warner Hemicycle.

MR. DOYLE.

61. ROMANCE LINGUISTICS.

A general study of the fundamental principles governing the development of the Romance Languages from Latin through Vulgar Latin, with especial reference to French, Spanish, and Italian. Practical exercises and reading of texts.

This course is designed to provide teachers of the Romance Languages with a knowledge of comparative philology indispensable to their teaching. It also meets the requirement for the Doctorate in Modern Languages.

The course is open without further charge to students regularly enrolled in the Schools of French, Italian, and Spanish. Because of this fact, the class work will be conducted in English in so far as is necessary. A knowledge of all three languages is not indispensable.

Texts: C. H. Grandgent, An Introduction to Vulgar Latin; Bourciez, Éléments de linguistique romane; Guaraniero, Fonologia romanza; Meyer-Lübke, Introducción al Estudio de la Lingüística Romance.

Daily at 2.00 in Old Chapel 9.

Credits   Two credits or semester hours will be allowed for each course, and all except Course A count toward the Master’s Degree. (See also page 7.)

Note: Course 2 (Advanced Composition) may be taken twice for credit, as the material of the course varies each year. Course 8 (Dante) may be taken three times for credit, once on the Inferno, once on the Purgatorio, and once on the Paradiso. No other courses in the school may be repeated for credit.

Daily Program

The morning hours will be given over to class work, leaving the afternoon free for recreation and study. Students and teachers will meet frequently in the evening for readings, lectures and informal social gatherings. The school picnics on alternate Saturdays afford pleasant relaxation. On Sunday and Thursday evenings the students of the Italian School will be free to accept the invitation of the French School to attend the concerts of French chamber music and other entertainments. On several Friday evenings there will be general dancing at the Gymnasium.

General Information

The Session opens for registration on Friday, June 30, and classes begin Monday, July 3, at 8.00 a.m. (See also page 10.)

Admission   Students may enter without examination, and without being candidates for degrees. No student will be admitted unless his qualifications are approved by the Director, and the right is reserved to place students in classes best suited to them.
Registration As soon as possible after arriving on June 30, every student should register for courses with the Director. After arranging his program, he will be directed to the Recorder and Treasurer for general registration and the payment of fees. Upon receipt of admission cards from this department, students will be ready for classes. Late registration is subject to fine and will not be permitted after the first week. (See page 10.)

Other Schools In accordance with the close cooperation established with the other Middlebury Language Schools, and with the Music Center, it is permissible for regularly enrolled students in the Italian School to audit courses in the other schools without charge. Members of the Italian School may also enroll for credit in the other schools, on payment of a fee of $10 for each course. Permission for such special enrollment must be secured from the heads of both schools concerned. Credits earned in the Italian School may be counted toward the Middlebury Master’s Degree in French, Spanish, and German, subject to any special requirements of the latter schools.

Accommodations For the summer of 1939, the Italian School will have its headquarters in the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity house. Comfortable and attractive accommodations will be provided for the increasing enrollment in other college buildings.

Cast for “Scrata Manzoniana”
Fees   For complete information concerning fees, rules governing auditors and special registration, reservations, etc., see page 11.

Scholarships   Three scholarships of fifty dollars each will be awarded this summer. Only students who have never attended the Middlebury Italian School, and who would be unable to attend without such financial assistance, are eligible. These scholarships will be awarded on the basis of need, merit, and scholastic promise. Applications should be made to the Director before May first.

Self-Help   Another important way in which students may assist in defraying their expenses is by waiting on table in the Italian dining room. All waiters or waitresses are students at the school who are able to use Italian exclusively in the dining room. The remuneration for this service is their board. The remaining cost of the summer session may be as low as $1.25. Those interested should write for information and application blanks to Miss Mary C. Dutton, Middlebury College.

Books   A special collection of books has been organized as a library of suggestions for high school teachers of Italian. The collection includes children's books in Italian; books about Italian life and culture for young students; and suggestions for supplementary reading.

There is also an Italian bookshop on the campus, at which students will be able to purchase the texts required for class work, as well as a variety of classic and modern Italian literature which should prove very interesting to a lover of the language.

Correspondence   Correspondence concerning admission and choice of courses should be addressed to the Director of the Italian School, Dr. Camillo Merlino, Dept. of Romance Languages, Boston University, Boston, Massachusetts. Correspondence concerning credits and degrees should be addressed to Prof. Stephen A. Freeman, Dean of the French School, Middlebury, Vermont. Correspondence concerning rooms should be addressed to Miss Virginia Ingalls, Office of the Language Schools, Middlebury College, Middlebury, Vermont.
THE SPANISH SCHOOL

THE MIDDLEBURY SPANISH SCHOOL, which has become an important center of hispanic studies in this country, will hold its twenty-third session this summer. The School will again be under the direct supervision of Professor Juan A. Centeno who has been associated with the School for the past ten years. Aiming to perpetuate the enviable reputation the Spanish School now enjoys throughout the country, he will strive to maintain those high standards of teaching and that truly Spanish atmosphere which have made of the School in the past a distinct and unusual success.

The School continues its tradition of inviting every year as Visiting Professor a significant representative of Spanish culture and takes pleasure in announcing the appointment of Jorge Guillén for the summer of 1939. Mr. Guillén, an eminent figure both in the academic and literary world, will offer two courses: Cervantes and Lyric Poetry of the Nineteenth Century. In addition, he will give the weekly Monday evening lectures.

A new and vital topic to all students of Spanish will be presented in the course offered by Professor Richard Pattee: Survey of the Social, Economic and Institutional Evolution of Hispanic America. Mr. Pattee of the Division of Cultural Relations of the Department of State, will also give a series of lectures entitled, Aspects of the Relations between the United States and the Spanish American countries.

Professor José Arce of Dartmouth College will join the faculty of the Spanish School this summer. Professors Casalduero, Dinamarca and Louis Solano will again return. Professor Sánchez y Escribano will have a leave of absence.

THE COURSES OF STUDY

The courses offered in the Middlebury Spanish School are planned for teachers of Spanish and students who have acquired some proficiency in the language; therefore no beginner's courses are given. With the exception of certain basic courses, which are offered every summer, the program changes yearly in a cyclic form, giving the student an opportunity to cover thoroughly in a period of four years, the fundamental phases of Spanish thought and letters.

In order to coordinate better the program of studies, the courses have been arranged in groups. Candidates for an advanced degree will be required to take at least one course in each group in filling their residence requirements.

The utmost cooperation will exist between the Spanish and the French and Italian Schools, thus offering unusual advantages to students in the Romance Language field.

Charlas

Every Monday evening at seven o'clock in the Social Hall of the Spanish House a talk will be given by Professor Guillén.

On Tuesday evenings, Professor Pattee will present a lecture series entitled, "Aspects of the Relations between the United States and the Spanish American countries."

It is unnecessary to register for these lectures and no academic credit will be allowed.

I. Language

1. ORAL WORK AND SELF-EXPRESSION IN SPANISH.

Intensive training in current Spanish designed to have the student gain assurance in self-expression in the language. Word study, oral reports on concrete topics, and a systematic building up of the conversational vocabulary will be based on readings of contemporary writers.

Daily at 10.00.

Texts: A detailed list will be furnished on request to the Dean.

Reference text: Each student should provide himself with an all-Spanish dictionary, such as the Pequeño Larousse Ilustrado.

2. ADVANCED GRAMMAR.

The aim of this course is to review systematically the fundamental principles of grammar and to train the student in the use of idiomatic Spanish. The work is essentially practical and consists chiefly of drill in oral and written sentence structure. Abundant practice is provided in writing idiomatic Spanish and in the practical application of grammatical principles.

Daily at 8.00.

3. ADVANCED COMPOSITION.

This course is designed for students who already have a fundamental knowledge of Spanish grammar and it aims to provide an opportunity for ample practice in the writing of related and connected Spanish. The work of the course comprises translation from English into correct and idiomatic Spanish, class discussion of these translations, study of a certain number of difficult points of grammar, analysis of shades of meaning and style, and weekly free compositions.

Daily at 10.00.

Text: The work of this course will be based entirely on mimeographed material which will be furnished to students enrolled in the course.

4. PHONETICS.

After a survey of the elements of general phonetics, the course will deal with the theoretical and practical study of Spanish phonetics; articulation, vowels and consonants; grouping of sounds, quantity and accent; intonation, versification and rhythm. In addition to the theoretical instruction, exercises in diction and phonetic transcription will be done by the students; the recording phonograph will be frequently used enabling students to analyze and correct their own diction.

Daily at 9.00.

7. ROMANCE LINGUISTICS.

A general study of the fundamental principles governing the development of the Romance languages from Latin through Vulgar Latin, with especial reference to French, Spanish, and Italian. Practical exercises and reading of texts.

This course is designed to provide teachers of the Romance languages with a knowledge of comparative philology indispensable to their teaching. It also meets the requirements for the Doctorate in Modern Languages.

The course is open without further charge to students regularly enrolled in the Schools of French, Italian, and Spanish. Because of this fact, the class work will be conducted in English in so far as is necessary. A knowledge of all three languages is not indispensable.

Daily at 2.00 in Old Chapel 9.

Mr. Solano.

II. Methods

8. THE TEACHING OF MODERN FOREIGN LANGUAGES: PROBLEMS AND METHODS.

This course is designed for teachers in service who have had an elementary methods course.

Among the topics to be considered are: the place of modern foreign languages in the curriculum; the history of modern foreign language teaching in the United States; aims and objectives; analysis of methods; course-content; representative syllabi; prognosis and achievement texts; word-frequency and syntax counts; recent trends in textbooks and other materials; criteria for the selection of textbooks; supplementary aids and devices; the modern foreign languages as a social study; the general language course; the civilization courses; the obligations and responsibilities of the modern foreign language teacher; professional ideals.

Readings, reports, panel discussions.

Note: Although this course is offered by the French School, it is concerned with the teaching of all the modern foreign languages and will be open without extra charge to students in the Spanish School. Since the material of the course is found chiefly in books written in the technical English of modern pedagogy, it will be conducted in English.

Daily at 2.00 in Warner Hemicycle.

Mr. Doyle.

III. Civilization

10. MODERN AND CONTEMPORARY SPAIN.

Establishment of political and religious unity in Spain. Formation of the Spanish Empire. Spanish hegemony. Discovery, conquest and colonization of America; its incorporation to the moral and political life of Spain. Fixation of Spanish society at the time of Felipe II. Splendor and decomposition of Spanish life in the 17th century. The cultural, economic, political and military reorganization of the 18th century. The 19th century struggle for the establishment of democracy. Civil wars and uninterrupted series of military uprisings which are unable to impede the political, social and intellectual renovation of Spain.

It is recommended that students planning to take this course read in advance some standard text such as Aguado Bleye’s Historia de España or Altamira’s Historia de España.

Daily at 9.00.

Sr. Casalduero.

24. SURVEY OF THE SOCIAL, ECONOMIC AND INSTITUTIONAL EVOLUTION OF HISPANIC AMERICA.

A survey course on the evolution of the Hispanic American peoples with emphasis on the period since independence. Special emphasis will be given to the social forces, economic trends, governmental organization and general development of the institutions which distinguish the various states of Hispanic America. Readings and discussions will concern such problems as the colonial heritage, racial complexities, constitutional evolution and economic tendencies which have determined the place of Hispanic America to-day.

It is suggested that students do some reading in advance of such books as: Garcilaso de la Vega, Comentarios reales; Sarmiento, Facundo; Hernández, Martín Fierro; Rivera, La Vorágine; Güíraldes, Don Segundo Sombra; Gallegos, Doña Bárbara; Teresa de la Parra, Las memorias de Mamá Blanca; Sánchez, La Gringa; Rodó, Ariel.

16. SPANISH THEATRE OF THE 16TH AND 17TH CENTURIES.

The plan of this course is: A brief outline of the Spanish theatre of the Medieval Ages, a study of the different tendencies of the dramatic activity of Spain during the 16th and 17th centuries, a characterization of the different epochs of its evolution and of the authors who, with Lope de Vega and Calderón de la Barca, contributed to the creation of the national theatre.

Daily at 8.00.

Sr. Casalduero.

Texts: A detailed list will be furnished on request to the Dean.

19. LYRIC POETRY OF THE NINETEENTH CENTURY.

After expounding the tendencies of the 18th century which prepare the advent of a new literature, the main poetic currents of the 19th century will be studied, giving prominence to the figures of Espronceda, Zorrilla and Bécquer.

Daily at 11.00.

Sr. Guillén.

Texts: A detailed list will be furnished on request to the Dean.

24. CERVANTES.

The aim of this course will be to study the personality of Cervantes, showing the unity and continuity of conception and style in the poet, the dramatist, and the novelist.

Daily at 12.00.

Sr. Guillén.

Spanish
It is suggested that students do some reading in advance of the following: Don Quijote de la Mancha, Novelas ejemplares, La Ninfancia, El rufian dichoso, El retablo de las maravillas, La guarda cuidadosa, La cueva de Salamanca.

Program of Courses

15. Poetry of the Classical Period.
16. Drama of the Classical Period.
18. Mystic Literature.

CREDITS
Two credits or semester hours will be allowed for each daily course. (See Credits on page 7.) Course 1 may, with the consent of the Dean, be taken a second summer for credit, since the material of this course is varied each year.

OTHER SCHOOLS
In accordance with the close cooperation established with the Schools of French and Italian, it is permissible for regularly enrolled students in the Spanish School to audit courses in French and Italian, without charge. Members of the Spanish School may also enroll for credit in French and Italian courses, on payment of a fee of $10 for each course. The reciprocal arrangement is made for members of the French and Italian Schools. Permission for such special enrollment must be secured from the heads of both schools concerned. Credits earned in the Spanish School may be counted toward the Middlebury Master’s Degree in French and Italian, subject to any special requirement of the latter schools. See also the announcement of the Music Center, page 6.
Books  General supplies and text books published in this country may be purchased in the College Book Store. In addition, the Spanish School has a small Book Store opened only at fixed hours in Hepburn Hall. Here students may secure, at very low prices, those books printed abroad which are used as texts in some courses, and other Spanish books dealing with contemporary literature.

Students are advised to provide themselves before coming with an all-Spanish dictionary, such as Calleja's Diccionario Ilustrado, or El Pequeño Larousse Ilustrado, Heath and Co.

Library  The Spanish Library consists at present of over 4,000 titles comprising such subjects as language, literature, history, and civilization. During the past years the library has been the recipient of gifts from the Centro de Estudios Históricos, the Junta de Relaciones Culturales, the Academia de la Historia de Cuba, the Hispanic Society of America, and the Secretaría de Educación Publica de México. Several anonymous gifts have also been received. The most representative periodicals of Spain and Spanish America, as well as publications in this country dealing with the Spanish language and literature, are received.

LIFE IN THE SCHOOL

Use of Spanish  The only language used in the School is Spanish; therefore, no student will be admitted to the School unless he is able and willing to use only Spanish while in attendance. This rule goes into effect from the moment the student arrives, and holds good for all picnics and excursions. Students may, of course, use English in their dealings with the people of the village, but even in such cases they are not supposed to use English among themselves. Each student is required to pledge his word of honor to observe this rule of no English, and it is with this condition that the Dean admits each student to the School. Only the Dean may grant temporary release from this rule, upon occasions which may warrant it. The Dean reserves the right to dismiss students who willfully break this rule which has become a cherished and unique tradition of the School.

Students are asked to refrain from reading newspapers that are in English, and they should not have such newspapers sent them from their home town or city. The most important Spanish newspapers are received at the School and are at the disposal of the students in the social hall of the Spanish House. The students are requested to subscribe, upon their arrival, to a Spanish newspaper for the period of the session.
The Spanish House One of the most attractive features of the School is the friendliness which exists between the faculty and students, in no small measure due to the fact that all students, as well as the Dean and instructors, reside in Hepburn Hall. Built on the highest point of the campus, it commands views of exceptional beauty and grandeur, with the Green Mountains to the east and the Adirondacks to the west.

The rooms are en suite with a study for each two students. All bedrooms are single, and each suite is connected with a lavatory. Every floor has two separate shower-bath rooms with three showers each.

Connected with the main structure by a loggia is the building containing the commons and the Social Hall, where most of the social gatherings of the School take place. This hall serves also as a general assembly and lounging room for the students and instructors.

A spacious and delightful garden surrounds the southern exposure of the Spanish House where students are free to lounge and study at will.

There is a graduate nurse on regular duty on the campus within the reach of every student. The students may feel that they are amply protected in case of emergency.

The Spanish Dining Room The hum of conversation in the Spanish dining room is natural and spontaneous. Students quickly forget their shyness of a foreign language at meal hours when guided by understanding instructors who preside at each table. In order that the students may get better acquainted with each other and with the various instructors, they are required to change tables according to a system of rotation.

Regularly enrolled students in the French and Italian Schools who have a knowledge of Spanish may, with the permission of the Dean, arrange to have some of their meals in the Spanish dining hall.

Activities The activities outside of the recitation room constitute an important feature of the life of the student while attending the Spanish School. These activities are designed not merely to furnish entertainment and relaxation, but also to give the student an opportunity to become better acquainted with various manifestations of Spanish customs and life.

Weekly programs are planned at the beginning of each week and are arranged so as not to interfere with the student’s study and relaxation. These short programs include the following subjects:

[a] Dance or musical recitals.
[b] Dramatic or literary entertainments.
[c] Readings, or informal talks by members of the faculty.
[d] Spanish games and plays.
On occasional Friday evenings, dances are held in the college gymnasium. The annual Masquerade Ball is always a most colorful and enjoyable affair. Prizes are given for the most original costumes and students are urged to make advance preparation for this event.

The School again plans to bring several all-Spanish movies to the local theatre.

On Sunday mornings and evenings the students of the Spanish School will be free to accept the invitation of the French School to attend the chapel services and the concerts of French chamber music.

Folk Songs and Dances For a number of years the singing of folk songs after the evening meal has been a tradition of the School. This summer particular emphasis will be given to the study of folk songs and, as an added feature, Spanish folk dances. Informal classes will be held several afternoons each week. Attention will be given to the application and adaptation of this material to Club Work.

The Spanish School issues its own Cancionero containing the words of the most popular folk songs. The musical score for many of these songs may be found in Benedito’s Pueblo and Canciones Populares Españolas.
The Literary Competition  Every year a literary competition takes place among the students enrolled in the Spanish School. The works presented must be original, written in Spanish, and may be on any of the following topics:

1. An original short story.
2. A short critical essay on any phase of Spanish or Spanish American literature, on a particular author, or on a selected work of a Spanish or Spanish American writer.
3. An essay discussing the advantages of the Spanish language from the cultural and social points of view.

The conditions of the contest will be announced in detail the first week of the session. The contest closes at midnight, August 1.

A cash prize of $25 will be awarded to the winner in this contest by Chapter Mu of Sigma Delta Pi, the national Spanish honorary society. The prize may be divided if the jury deems it advisable. Two other minor prizes will also be awarded.

The works receiving prizes will be read at a special meeting which will take place at the end of the session.

OTHER INFORMATION

Arrival  Beginning Friday morning, June 30, students will be met at the station by a Spanish School representative who will direct them to taxis and assist with arrangements for luggage.

As soon as possible, students should report at the office of the Dean in Painter Hall to register for their courses and receive other information.

The first official assembly of the Spanish School will be held at the Social Hall of the Spanish House, Sunday evening, July 2 at seven o'clock. All students are required to attend. Classes will begin at eight o'clock, Monday morning, July 3. See also page 99.

Consultation  During the entire summer the Dean will hold regular consultation hours at his office in Painter Hall, Room 14, from 11 to 12, and from 2 to 3 daily. Arrangements may be made with his secretary for special consultations at other hours.

Scholarships  Three scholarships of fifty dollars each will be awarded this summer. Only students who have never attended the Middlebury Spanish School, and who would be unable to attend without such financial assistance, are eligible. These scholarships will be awarded on the basis of need, merit, and scholastic promise. Application should be made to the Dean before May 31.
Self Help  In addition to the scholarships a limited number of students are provided an opportunity to defray part of their expenses—free board—by acting as waiters and waitresses in the Spanish dining hall. A fluent speaking knowledge of Spanish is essential to be granted one of these positions. Those interested may write to Miss Mary C. Dutton, Dietitian, Middlebury College, Middlebury, Vermont, for information and application blanks.

Mail to Students  In order to insure prompt delivery of their mail, students should have all letters and other mail matter addressed in care of the Spanish School, Middlebury, Vermont.

Correspondence  Communications regarding admission, courses, credits and other academic information may be addressed to Prof. Juan A. Centeno, Dean of the Spanish School, Middlebury College, Middlebury, Vermont.

Correspondence regarding rooms, reservations and rates may be addressed to Miss Virginia Ingalls, office of the Summer Session, Middlebury College, Middlebury, Vermont.
The German School
THE MIDDLEBURY GERMAN SCHOOL is the forerunner of all the Middlebury language Schools which were modelled after the "Middlebury Idea." It was founded in 1915 on the initiative of Miss Marian P. Whitney, former head of the German Department of Vassar College, and of Miss Lilian L. Stroebe of Vassar who was its director until 1918. After the War in 1931, when the School reopened, Professor Ernst Feise of the Johns Hopkins University was appointed Director of the School which was removed to the neighboring village of Bristol in accordance with the two leading principles of the Middlebury Summer Schools, isolation and concentration.

The Idea This segregation seemed necessary if students were to concentrate all their efforts upon one language alone; for, remote from the contact with the other foreign languages and not distracted by the life of a larger English-speaking community around them, they are to merge into the intimate circle of a German Arbeitsgemeinschaft and for the six weeks of the session are to make the German language in work and play their sole medium of communication.

The location proved highly successful from the very outset. The life of the little German community centers around the quaint New England square of the village, with the schoolhouse at one corner, the Bristol Inn at another, and the half dozen houses in which the students are located, scattered in the immediate vicinity. Owing to the good library and art collection lent by the College, the schoolrooms and the annex of the Inn radiate a German atmosphere essential for carrying out the plans of the school. For it is necessary that the student, beyond the knowledge to be acquired in the classroom, should come into an intimate contact with the cultural values of the foreign country, especially at a time when most portentous social and political changes are taking place, when old tables of value in art, literature, and philosophy are broken, and when an independent judgment can be formed only on the basis of historical perspective.

THE COURSES OF STUDY

PRELIMINARY EXAMINATION.
On Tuesday, July 4, all new students will be given a preliminary written examination covering grammar, free composition, and the ability to understand the spoken word. The purpose of this test is to determine the degree of proficiency of each student, thus helping him in choosing his courses adequately and obviating later changes. Beyond this it will in no way affect the student's standing in the school.

A. Literature

11. A SURVEY OF EARLY GERMAN LITERATURE
A Survey of Early Literature through the Reformation period. Representative works of this period will be studied in connection with political, artistic and philosophical tendencies of the time.
15. A SURVEY OF NINETEENTH CENTURY LITERATURE.
   Up to the foundation of the New German Empire (1871). Representative works, characterizing the transition from Romanticism to Realism and the ultimate establishment of the latter will be studied in connection with political, social, economic, and philosophical tendencies of the time.
   9.30 Mr. Sommerfeld.

20. SPECIAL INVESTIGATION.
   Students advanced in their graduate study may work on special topics under the guidance of one of the members of the staff. They are, however, urged to confer with the Director before the opening of the School so that the object may be defined and the necessary books procured.

38. MODERN GERMAN LYRICS.
   The development of German poetry since 1880 in content and form with a special study of George, Hofmannsthal, and Rilke. Interpretative readings, illustrating the principal philosophical, political, and social movements and their influence upon lyrical expression.
   11.30 Mr. Sommerfeld.

39. INTRODUCTION TO LITERARY ANALYSIS.
   This course is intended to give the student a practical knowledge of the esthetic and historical approach to drama, fiction, and lyric poetry. Masterpieces of various types are to be analyzed closely in regard to content and form, with special attention to class room texts of literary merit. (Not open to advanced students.)
   10.30 Mr. Feise.

B. Civilization

41. GERMAN HISTORY.
   A survey of German history from the beginnings up to the end of the 18th century, followed by a more detailed study of the history of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries.
   8.30 Mr. Gaede.

C. Language

51. HISTORICAL SURVEY OF THE GERMAN LANGUAGE.
   An introduction to the essentials of German phonology, morphology, syntax, and semantics. Readings illustrating the most important stages of the evolution of the language.
   11.30 Mr. Kaufmann.

55. PRACTICAL PHONETICS.
   A study of the formation and combination of German speech sounds with practical exercises. Special emphasis will be laid on characteristics of spoken German such as rhythm and speech melody as factors of expression.
   8.30 Mr. Neuse.

   All students deficient in German pronunciation will be obliged to do special work in the phonetics laboratory until their defects are corrected.
D. Language Practice

61 ADVANCED COMPOSITION AND STYLISTICS.
A systematic study of style, shades of meaning, adequacy of expression. Model selections of prose and master translations will form the basis for imitative composition and for translation of passages of increasing difficulty. A thorough knowledge of German grammar is prerequisite for this course.

7.30 Mr. Feise.

65 COMPOSITION AND GRAMMAR REVIEW.
A systematic review of German grammar and syntax. Compositions of gradually increasing difficulty, proceeding from concrete observations to theoretical and abstract discussion. Study of synonyms and idioms.

7.30 Mr. Neuse.

68 GRAMMAR.
A thorough and systematic review of German grammar, syntax, and basic vocabulary. Reading and stylistic analysis of simple prose and poetry. Daily papers and reports. This course is supplemented by the ORAL PRACTICE course and should be taken only in conjunction with it. No auditors. Two credits (no credit towards the M.A. degree).

7.30 Mr. Tiller.

69 ORAL PRACTICE.
The goal of this course is to develop the ability to use German correctly and idiomatically in conversation. Beginning with reading exercises and reports, it will proceed to the organization of the vocabulary into thought groups which will serve as the basis for conversation and group discussion. Since this course is designed to supplement the GRAMMAR course, it should be taken alone only by students who have demonstrated a fair knowledge of grammar (in the preliminary examination (see page 79). No auditors. One credit (no credit towards the M.A. degree).

8.30 Mr. Tiller.

LANGUAGE CLINIC. Students who need special assistance on account of particular deficiencies in grammar, written and oral expression, will be assigned to individual members of the staff for extra work.
E. The Teaching of German

71. METHODS OF TEACHING.

A comparative study of contemporary writers and movements in the field of modern language teaching for the purpose of appraising, developing, and formulating their contributions to the teaching of German in secondary schools and colleges. Objectives, educational values, scientific foundation of modern language teaching on the basis of modern psychology, phonetics, and progressive educational theory. Selection and organization of subject matter, critical discussion of various theories of methods, choice and use of textbooks on beginners’ German, grammar, reading, and literature. The use of realia, reviews, tests, and examinations. Practical demonstration of class work in the Demonstration School.

9:30 Mr. Gaebe.

78. THE GERMAN CLUB.

The organization of a German Club and the material for its activities will be presented and discussed; programs will be outlined; games, plays, songs, folk dances and German Rhythmics will be practiced; the building of a puppet stage and the manipulation of puppets will be demonstrated; short plays, suited for high school production will be examined. The creation of a German atmosphere in the classroom will receive special attention. (One credit.)

11:30 Mrs. Jordan.

F. The Demonstration School

A. BEGINNERS’ GERMAN.

Practical demonstration of the class work in a beginners’ high school class: the teaching of pronunciation, oral and silent reading, acquiring of a vocabulary, fundamentals in grammar.

B. SECOND SEMESTER HIGH SCHOOL GERMAN.

Practical demonstration of the class work in a second semester of high school German.

Students registered in the methods course will be expected to devote two hours a week to this course under the supervision of the instructor in charge. Effective means for directing observation, guidance of supervised teaching, and methods of strengthening the young teacher through conferences will be considered. Opportunity will be afforded for the solution of individual problems with which members of the class are confronted in their present teaching activities.

Required Courses

Required courses for the Master's Degree are:
1. Two of the three Civilization Courses (41, 42, 43).
2. The History of the German Language (51).
4. Methods of Teaching (71, including some teaching under observation in the Demonstration School).
5. Advanced Composition (61).
6. At least 8 credits in German Literature at the Middlebury College School of German, among which must be a survey course (preferably 13 or 15).

Required courses for the Degree of Doctor of Modern Languages (in addition to the foregoing courses) are:
1. One additional Civilization Course (Group 15).
2. A complete Survey of German Literature (Group A).
3. Goethe's Faust (21).

The Aims  The school is primarily designed for advanced students who, possessing a fair speaking and reading knowledge of German, wish to perfect their ability to use it and desire to deepen and broaden their acquaintance with German literature as well as with its cultural background and the soil on which it has grown. If such aims will appeal primarily to teachers and graduate students majoring in the language, they should also attract those who, interested in German from a cultural point of view, would welcome the association with a homogeneous group of persons of like tastes and interests.

The Work  No elementary courses are scheduled and, from the first, students speak the language of the school. Undergraduates with a good preparation will find sufficient work in intermediate courses offered and will be given proper consideration and reduced work if taking courses primarily intended for graduates. All instruction lies in the hands of native teachers, who also preside at the meals and are ready for help and advice in and outside of the classroom.

Admission  For all questions concerning admission see page 5. In order to avoid too many changes during the first week of the session new students may be asked to show in a preliminary test their proficiency in the German language (see page 79). Since the success of the school and the benefit derived from attending it depends on the creation of an atmosphere of intimate group consciousness and a carrying out of a carefully planned program of six weeks, participation in all official activities of the school, such as lectures, after-dinner gatherings, and singing is obligatory. Students not wishing to participate in the social life of the school can be accepted only in very rare cases with the consent of the Director and after an examination in which they have proved their excellence in handling the language. They are, however, expected to take part in the daily singing and to attend extra-curricular lectures and programs. (For Auditors see page 11.)

Credits Two credits will be allowed for all courses meeting five hours a week with the exception of courses 69 and 78, which carry one credit. All courses count toward the Baccalaureate degree and all except Grammar (course 68) and Oral Practice (course 69) count towards the Master's degree. Other information concerning credits will be found on page 7.

Degrees, Examinations, Fees For complete information concerning degrees, examinations, fees, opening of session, etc., see pages 7 to 12.

Address Correspondence concerning admission, courses, credits, and degrees should be addressed to Prof. Werner Neuse, 21 South Street, Middlebury, Vermont. Correspondence concerning rooms should be addressed to Language Schools Office, Middlebury College, Middlebury, Vermont.

Bristol Pool
LIFE AT THE SCHOOL

Center  The social center and dining hall will be at the Bristol Inn in a separate annex. The Inn is an old hostelry, well known in Vermont for its gracious hospitality and superior cuisine.

Meals  Breakfast will be served at seven, lunch at half-past twelve, and dinner at half-past six. The students gather at small tables, each table presided over by a member of the faculty. Students and teachers rotate according to a fixed schedule so as to enable all to get acquainted. After the noon and evening meals German songs are sung in the adjoining social room.

Lectures  There will be brief lectures or readings after dinner and a production of a drama or a program of music every Friday evening. "Literarische Sonntagsandachten," not conflicting with local church services, will be held every Sunday morning.

Music  Music is recognized as a primary factor in fostering the community spirit of the School. To be sure, the school arranges for a number of formal concerts by its own staff as well as by other guest artists. But the main emphasis is laid not upon the passive enjoyment of music as mere entertainment but, rather, upon having the musical life of the school grow out of the active cooperation of the students themselves. Therefore, under the leadership of Mr. Tiller, special attention will be given to the rehearsing and presentation of instrumental and vocal music by German composers. The scope of this extra-curricular activity will naturally depend on the presence of musical talent among the students. In the past, various chamber-music groups and choruses were organized and furnished the music for the Sonntagsandachten in addition to giving concerts for the school and the village. In order to make this musical activity possible and to prevent delay in its organization, all students are urged to bring their instruments.

Attention is also called to the opportunities for theoretical and practical study of music, offered by the Music Center at Middlebury. See page 6.

Folk Dancing  will be taught in course 78, but there will be opportunity for all students to join this group on special evenings of the week.

Book Store  At the Bücherstube all books used in the courses may be purchased; but also recent books of fiction, drama, poetry, illustrated books on German art, and reproductions of paintings will be offered for sale at moderate prices. Advance reading lists for all courses are ready for distribution.

Opportunities for Service All waiters and waitresses in the German School dining hall must be able to speak German. In order to secure such a staff, opportunity is offered to a limited number of students to earn their board in return for their service. Those interested should write to the Dean of the School as early as possible.

Commencement Banquet
Middlebury Music Center
June 30 to August 16, 1939

Located on the campus of Middlebury College, close to the Language Schools, there is a unique Center of Music. Created with the two-fold purpose of giving instruction in theoretical and practical music, and of attracting to Middlebury musicians who wish to work under pleasant and quiet conditions, the School will maintain in all its activities a standard of thoroughness and quality.

The faculty will consist of artists of international reputation. Instruction will be given in piano, violin, viola, violoncello, ensemble, voice production, organ, harmony, counterpoint, fugue, besides courses in advanced musical theory.

In addition the school will offer two unique advantages: first, all students enrolled in the Music Center will have the privilege of sharing in the life and work of the Language Schools, without charge, as auditors, or for a nominal fee if they wish to enroll in courses. Secondly, to singers who wish to perfect their diction in French, German, Italian or Spanish, will be given the opportunity of studying those languages under native teachers, with the splendid material equipment of the Phonetics Department of the French School at their disposal.

The Music Center will be under the direction of Mrs. André Morize
